As if you are there Summer Campaign

The campaign likely involved a carefully selected range of products that could help create a vacation-like atmosphere at home. These might have included wellness products, skincare items reminiscent of spa treatments, or health supplements that promote relaxation and well-being. The idea was to offer customers a way to pamper themselves and escape the monotony and stress of quarantine life.

Marketing materials for this campaign have featured imagery and narratives that evoked popular travel destinations, offering customers a mental escape. The campaign could have also included tips and ideas on how to use these products to create a mini-retreat at home, such as creating a spa day, setting up a relaxation corner, or organizing a themed family activity that brings the joy of vacationing indoors.
